Marketing Tip of the Week

By Charlene Parlett

Would you want to be your client? Part of the branding process for any business is determining what your ideal client looks like: But the other side of that equation is up to them – do they want to be your client? I provide a partnership-based service. I have a criteria for potential clients that takes into account a wide variety of characteristics – but when it comes right down to it, if I’m not the person they want to do business with, it doesn’t really matter that they are “the perfect client” to me. I’m a believer in win-win and want to build a relationship, not just make a sale.

When I coach, my #1 priority has to be my client: What do they want to get out of this partnership? And what do I need to bring to the table to help make that happen for them? For some people, they just need an external push to do what they already know to do. For others, they want education and insight. But no matter what, I have to be the kind of person they want to work with. Coaching provides me the opportunity to help others achieve more than they could on their own. That’s what I “sell” – and if the packaging I sell it in doesn’t meet expectations, chances are, that potential client isn’t going to buy.

Take an honest look around your business: If you were walking in for the first time, what would your impression be? How are you greeted? Would you want to come back? Would you want to be your client?

The Liberty County Chamber of Commerce is entering the fourth year of our successful Member to Member Discount Program. With over 90 members participating, business to business relationships are at the core of our mission. With this program members can provide special offers and discounts directly to other members and their employees. All members of the Chamber receive a membership card when they join, as well as one for each employee. Members also have access to a full list of discounts on the Chamber's website www.libertycounty.org.

The discount cards, when flashed at participating member businesses, save money instantly on purchases. The main purpose of the card is to verify membership in order to receive discounts. Participating businesses this year will also be given a plaquard to display as a way to prompt people to remember their discounts.

We encourage you to choose a discount or offer that is appropriate to your business, 10% off any item or a specialty item in your shop; 10% off of services for a first time customer; 15% off a first contract for services; a free visit for consultation; or a discounted rate for monthly services.
